Alumni Spotlight: Dr. Tim Naddy, CPA, CFE, DBA

A 2012 DBA graduate Dr. Tim Naddy is a faculty member of Shorter University in Rome, GA, a Certified Public Accountant, a Certified Fraud Examiner and, yes, an author of Young Adult fiction (www.timnaddy.com). His unusual, yet straight forward approach to the accounting profession is evidenced in his industry relevant research centered squarely on First Year Shock: When Syllabi Malfunction Begets Auditor Dysfunction, research that focuses on the often overlooked but very important transitional period professionals must navigate moving from the classroom to the boardroom. His work on The Audit Trifecta: Turning Competence Into Confidence is gaining momentum in the public accounting circles, as well. Dr. Naddy has once again come up with a way to deliver Accounting in a creative way that will leave you wanting more. He is offering a study abroad accounting class in Aix en Provence, France this summer named "Chocolate Accounting" and, if you know Tim, it promises to be exactly what is sounds like...delicious and informative.
